1. Sure, I can give a brief briefing. What is the best format?
Document, slides, in-person chat, a CL that has +0 lines and -15000?

2a. I'm not sure we should take it on. It's radioactive: In its current form, it is effectively a lie; in its fixed form (rebranded, clarified) it will be a huge negative press cycle like Master Password was (most people drunkenly screeching; Kevin Poulsen being the lone sane voice); in its genericized form (Incognito deleted but at the same time we make chrome://settings easier to use and understand, including a [x] Make This Profile Temporary checkbox) people will think we killed it unceremoniously and then it will be 100% screeching.

2b. If we don't take it on, it will fester and perhaps metastasize, and we will feel like we were derelict in our duty.

2c. Does Privacy team realize they have dropped the ball? I.e. if we try to take it on, will they push back thinking it's still theirs? Or, can we get them on board with our plan and then get them to act on it, solving (2a)?
